OVERVIEW

The High Performance Building Alliance has recently established a Centre of Excellence which aims to promote a climate change approach to the built environment.

The EU Directive 2010/31/EU and amended European Parliament Directive 2018/844/EU on the energy performance of buildings has been transposed into the Irish regulations since 2019. The regulations require that all new buildings occupied, meet the NZEB standard for energy performance from the 31st December 2020. The requirement has been in place for owned and occupied buildings of the public sector since the end of 2018.

‘Nearly Zero – Energy Buildings’ means a building that has a very high energy performance, Annex 1 of the Directive and in which “the nearly zero or very low amount of energy required should be covered to a very significant extent by energy from renewable sources, including energy from renewable sources produced on-site or nearby“.

(Directive of The European Parliament and of the Council on the Energy Performance of Buildings (Recast):EU, 19th May, 2010.)

The regulations will advance the performance of dwellings to a 70% improvement relative to 2005 buildings with a typical buildings energy performance at A2. Ireland has been leading the way on legislation for the sector and Wexford has been to the forefront in the advancement of the energy performance buildings as a key strategy with funding support from Wexford County Council and the Waterford and Wexford Education and Training Board. The government publication of the new Climate Change Bill 2020 requires in law, Ireland to be Carbon Neutral by 2050. Ultimately warmer buildings mean better homes, address fuel poverty, reduce the carbon footprint and support job creation.

Mission Statement:

A Centre of Excellence advancing the UN’s Sustainable Development Goals, the Framework for Energy Efficiency Guidelines, Paris Climate Accord and Ireland’s Climate Action Plan.

To be a leader and champion in high performance buildings and nearly zero energy buildings both new and retrofit, and to increase the knowledge, capacity and demand for low carbon emission buildings.

Advance innovation and promote more use of sustainable solutions through collaboration, to create environmentally, economically and socially vibrant communities.

Centre of Excellence Objectives:

Model of Best Practice

To establish Ireland as a world class leader in high performance buildings including Nearly Zero Energy Buildings (NZEB)

Training

To help up-skill the construction industry and related services in delivering high performance buildings.

Delivery of Targets

Supports the fast track delivery of new high performance buildings and the deep retrofit of existing buildings.

Research

International Advisory & Dissemination Role

To explore international opportunities to facilitate the development of exemplar high performance building processes.

Social Inclusion

Help address fuel poverty and promote a healthy indoor environment

Employment

Support the transition from harmful carbon based fuels to sustainable solutions to help combat climate change.

Policy Guidance

To advise stakeholders on developing more high performance buildings.

Information

To promote awareness, education, training and best practice in high performance buildings.

THE ROLE

The Chief Executive Officer will report to the Board and bring strategic vision and innovation to the High Performance Building Alliance centre of excellence to achieve its ambitious objectives as a leader and champion in high performance buildings. They will have a clear understanding of and strong commitment to climate action.
