

New Ross: past and present

The 'past' photographs highlighted in this section are from the great archive of photographs taken by William Cavanagh. The images are just some of those reproduced from a 'box of old photograph plates' saved from destruction by Gabriel Lalor with a £5 bid at auction and lovingly catalogued, preserved and published by James FitzGibbon.

The 'present' photographs, taken from almost identical vantage points, were expertly captured by another local photographer, Edward Delaney.

North Street

View from the Tholsel.

1900

W. Cavanagh/J. FitzGibbon Collection

2011

E. Delaney

North Street

View towards the Tholsel.

1897

W. Cavanagh/J. FitzGibbon Collection

2011

E. Delaney

South Street

View towards Mary Street.

1899

W. Cavanagh/J. FitzGibbon Collection

2011

E. Delaney

South Street

View towards Priory Street.

1899

W. Cavanagh/J. FitzGibbon Collection

2011

E. Delaney

Bridge Street

View from the site of the old bridge.

1899

W. Cavanagh/J. FitzGibbon Collection

2011

E. Delaney

Bridge Street

View in opposite direction - over old bridge site.

1899

W. Cavanagh/J. FitzGibbon Collection

2011

E. Delaney

Charles Street

View towards South Street.

1899

W. Cavanagh/J. FitzGibbon Collection

2011

E. Delaney

The Quays

Photographed in 1895 after flooding

1895

W. Cavanagh/J. FitzGibbon Collection

2011

E. Delaney

Aerials 1950s & 2009

1950s

2009